BY

PROFESSOR W. S. TYLER, Class of '30.

AMHERST, MASS.

1883.

PREFACE.

Prof. Tyler's History of Amherst College was published in 1873. It was an accurate and exhaustive record of the life of the college, of its professors and teachers, its trustees and benefactors, during its first half century. But to give a complete view of the work accomplished and the influence exerted by the college, something more was needed. The history of the college is fittingly supplemented by the biographies of the graduates, and before the former work had left the printer's hands, the task of collecting material for the latter had begun.

The Biographical Record of the Alumni was authorized by the Trustees in 1872, and Prof. E. P. Crowell and Prof. W. L. Montague were appointed to take charge of the work. A division of the labor was made, Prof. Crowell taking the earlier half of the classes, through 1850, and Prof. Montague the later, through 1871. Although circulars were at once issued to obtain the desired information, the requisite facts have, in many cases, been obtained only after much search and repeated inquiries. Yet, as rapidly as the pressure of College duties made it practicable, the work has been carried forward to a conclusion.

From 1876 to 1879, the work of gathering information respecting the first twenty-nine classes was carried forward by Prof. Chickering, and after that time resumed and completed by Prof. Crowell. The final preparation for the press of the materials thus collected has been made by Mr. W. S. Biscoe. The record of the classes from 1851 to 1871 inclusive has been wholly prepared by Prof. W. L. Montague, who has also had the editorial supervision of the entire work.

The editors have endeavored to make the reports as brief as possible; all eulogies have been carefully avoided, and the simple facts of each life stated; and yet, notwithstanding their utmost efforts, the volume has extended nearly a hundred pages beyond what was expected. The following general order has been adopted in giving the record of each graduate:

1. His personal history before graduation.

2. His professional life; including both the study and practice of his profession, with the facts arranged as far as possible chronologically.

3. Official positions held, books or pamphlets written, and honorary degrees received. There has been a great difference in the fullness with which the facts of this section have been stated in the written reports received, and a corresponding difference will consequently be found in the printed record.

4. The death of deceased graduates; marriage and number of children.

5. The present P. O. address of all living graduates.

From some of the living graduates, it has been impossible to obtain any answer to the various circulars sent, and their records are of necessity incomplete. Friends and relatives have supplied some of the facts, but the editors do not feel that they are responsible for any error or omission in such records. In other cases there are seeming errors in the spelling of names, but it has been thought best to follow closely the responses which have been received. For the same reason there are frequent diversities in the way in which similar facts are given in different places, as well as in the fullness of individual records.

The graduates of Amherst College during its first half century have been engaged in the different professions and occupations as follows: 887 have been clergymen; 92, foreign missionaries; 181, physicians; 305, lawyers; 348, teachers; 233, authors; 138, professors; 26, college presidents; 83, editors; 178 have engaged in business; 41 have been merchants; 32, manufacturers; 76, farmers; 21, civil engineers; 2, U. S. ministers; 2, U. S. Commissioners; 10, members of Congress; 28, State Senators; 81, members of State Legislatures; 2, governors; 41, judges; 207, in the U. S. Army; 9, in the Confederate Army; 1 has been Postmaster-General; and 1, a Bishop; the whole number has been 1968.

Every one, who notices an error or omission in the Record, will confer a favor upon the College by sending the correction to the College Librarian.

INTRODUCTION.

In the Preface to the History of Amherst College, which was published in 1873, it was announced that at my instance and the request of the Faculty Professors Crowell and Montague had commenced the collection of materials for a History of the Graduates of the College, which would be given to the public as soon as it could be prepared. After the lapse of ten years that promise is now fulfilled, though not without some change of plan and of hands in the execution of the work, which will be explained in the Preface. Meanwhile Professor Montague has prepared and printed, with great labor and painstaking, a Record of the Non-Graduate Members of Amherst College from 1821 to 1871. These three works, the History of the College, the Record of its Alumni, and the Record of its Non-Graduates, together with the Exercises at the Semi-Centennial, and Student Life at Amherst, all clustering about the Semi-Centennial, make up a pretty complete picture, or series of pictures, of Amherst College during the first half century of its existence.

If any of the readers of this Record wonder why a period as long as that of the Trojan War should have elapsed before its completion, let them undertake for themselves the compilation of such a mass of biography and history—nearly two thousand lives, over three thousand including the Non-Graduates; or let them read in the Preface to the Record of Non-Graduates Professor Montague's account of the process of collecting materials, the sources from which they have been gathered, the procrastinations and delays even of those who have been willing to communicate the facts, and the various means, instruments of torture shall I say, (surely it must have been torture to the authors, if not to the subjects of the history) by which information has been extorted from the reluctant and the indifferent. Then let them think of the more than hydrostatic pressure, to which these hard, (or perhaps worse, soft), crude, incongruous and bulky materials must have been subjected in order to reduce them within the compass of a medium-sized volume! For myself I only wonder that the authors have lived through the process and been able to accomplish the work at all.

To me this Record has been as fascinating as it has been instructive. I was scarcely able to lay it aside till I had read it through, from beginning to end. Of course it is not to be expected that all, if indeed any, of the readers of this volume will feel the same interest in its perusal which I have felt, who have known as students the graduate and the non-graduate members of all but the first half a dozen classes, and have made the acquaintance of nearly all the members of those classes as they have revisited the College from time to time at Commencement. Yet I have learned much which I did not know about almost every person whose name appears; and I can hardly tell which have interested me the most, the old or the new facts, the old or the new acquaintances. In one or the other of these ways every alumnus will find matter of interest and instruction in every record.

In reviewing the history of classmates and college acquaintances, the thoughtful reader will probably meet with three kinds of surprises. He will be agreeably surprised, that some from whom he expected little, have done so much and done it so well. He will be sadly disappointed, that some who promised so much in College have accomplished so little after graduation, and some, alas! who did pretty well in college have made an utter shipwreck in the voyage of life. But most frequently of all he will be surprised to see that the great majority have been in after life so nearly and essentially what they were in College; though after all this is only the old law that the boy is father to the man, and whatsoever a man soweth that shall he also reap.

On the whole we shall doubtless feel that we have no occasion to be ashamed of our mother or her sons; on the contrary, the more we know of her and of them, the more we shall love and honor both. If they are her jewels, she is their pearl. The brotherhood of our College answers somewhat to the description which the Apostle Paul has given of the church in Corinth: Not many mighty, not many noble, not very many who sit in the high places of political power and preferment; but a great number of those whom God has called to run in his service, and to do the hard work that needs to be done in the church and the world. We have our leaders in every sphere of public life, of whom we are justly proud. But the rank and file of our sacramental host, the fighting and the working men who are serving their country and mankind in the toil and battle of life, in business and the professions, in the pulpit and the press, in literature and science and education and religion—these are the strength and the glory of Amherst.

The Alumni cannot but be grateful to the authors for a book which, besides being so instructive and so convenient for reference, will serve to brighten the chain of those college friendships which are among the most sacred that bind together human hearts, and which only grow more hallowed with the flight of years. We older graduates especially must feel drawn closer to each other and our younger brothers as we read these records of the living and the dead, and we may well seize the occasion to greet Alma Mater and all her children in the words of Longfellow: Morituri Salutamus.

BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD

OF THE

NON-GRADUATE MEMBERS

OF

AMHERST COLLEGE

DURING ITS FIRST HALF CENTURY.

BY

W. L. MONTAGUE,

OF THE CLASS OF 1855,

PROFESSOR OF FRENCH, ITALIAN AND SPANISH.

AMHERST, MASS.:

PREFACE.

The direct object of this Record is twofold :— first, to show the extent of the work of the college in contributing to the culture of many who did not graduate, thereby giving a more complete idea of the influence of the college upon society and the world; second, to gratify the desire so widely felt by educated men to know something of the subsequent life of those with whom they have been associated for a longer or shorter period in the halls of learning.

Many of those, who commenced a course of study, were obliged, for various reasons, to relinquish the college curriculum, yet they received impressions and influences, while in college, that have shaped or modified all their work in life. While some graduated at other colleges, thus dividing the influence of the college upon their character, others went directly to professional schools or the cares of business, and thus owe to Amherst all their college training.

The interest manifested by classmates in the report of the non-graduate members of '55, made at the vigintennial meeting in 1875, led the writer to think that many others might be interested in a similar report. As the Record of the Alumni, previously authorized by the Trustees, was necessarily delayed for a time, the design was formed of preparing a Record of all the non-graduate members of the college during the first fifty years, and publishing the same as a Supplement to the Record of Alumni. Accordingly the college catalogues and records were examined and compared, and a list of about 1200 names was published in 1878, with the date of entering college, the number of terms present and the place of residence, as published in the catalogues.

Letters were then written to class secretaries for aid, circulars were sent to the old address, and the work of collecting information was vigorously commenced. The difficulties encountered were many, some seemed insurmountable. But town clerks, postmasters and clergymen were addressed, directories of cities, catalogues and triennials of colleges and professional schools, the year-books of the various religious bodies, the reports of general assemblies and state conferences were carefully examined and thus the address of many was found. In some instances the only response received to a letter of inquiry was "no information can be obtained," "gone West," "no such name on the town records," or something of similar import. When any trace was found it was followed until the information was obtained or further effort proved useless. Thus eight or nine letters have sometimes been written to secure one report. Some individuals have been found, who were unwilling to give any account of themselves, and no letters could draw from them the desired information. Others have taken great interest in the subject and have rendered all the aid in their power. Many of the class secretaries have cordially co-operated in helping on the work. While it is impossible to name all who have rendered valuable aid, special acknowledgements are due to Samuel D. Partridge, Esq., class of '27; Prof. W. S. Tyler, '30; Dr. C. C. Field, '33; Rev. S. H. Emery, '34; Rev. Mortimer Blake, D. D., '35; Rev. L. Thompson, '35; Rev. Ebenezer Alden, '39; Rev. Rowland Ayres, D. D., '41; Albert Tolman, '45; Prof. E. Hitchcock, '49; Rev. E. S. Fish, '52; Prof. E. P. Crowell, '53; C. P. Rugg, '54; Rev. J. W. Lane, '56; Rev. E. G. Cobb, '57; H. S. Jewett, '58; R. D. Douglass, '60; Prof. H. H. Goodell, '62; Prof. H. E. Storrs, '64; Rev. C. E. Harwood, '65; H. L. Bridgman, '66; D. C. Heath, '68; W. R. Brown, '69; Dr. C. G. Trow, '70; and R. L. Bridgman, '71: also to Prof. W. T. Hewett, '69 and Rev. Samuel L. Gerould (Editor of the General Catalogue of Kimball Union Academy, Meriden, N. H.)

Of the 1195 Non-Graduates included in this Record, 41 were members of two or more classes: 308 graduated at other colleges; 251 graduated at professional schools; 189 have been clergymen;

7, foreign missionaries; 120, physicians; 170, lawyers; 111, teachers; 36, editors; 29, farmers; 4 have been college presidents; 26, professors in colleges, or professional schools; 2, United States ministers; 2 United States commissioners; 9, members of Congress; 10, state senators; 31, members of state legislatures; 18, judges; 106 have served in the Union army; 7, in the Confederate army; 410 have died and 92 are unreported. Of the 92 unreported, 16 have no record on the college books, and none with their several classes, but their names appear in the college catalogues. The average length of time spent in Amherst College by each of the Non-Graduates is 3.75 terms, or nearly one third of the entire course.

Great care has been taken to render the Record as accurate as possible, but every one, who has been engaged in a work of this kind, knows that perfection is unattainable. It is hoped, however, that few, if any, serious errors will be found, and that the information here gathered will serve to strengthen the esteem in which the ever widening and deepening influence of the college is held, and to promote the mutual interest and respect which should be cherished by all who have enjoyed the inspiring influences and the fostering care of Amherst College.
